

Ewen Stewart

Ewen Stewart is the founding director of Walbrook Economics which is a City based consultancy specialising in the interaction of macroeconomics, politics and capital markets. Taxation, fiscal, monetary policy and consumer research are core specialisations. Clients include major pension funds, asset managers and hedge funds.

Ewen's City career has spanned over 30 years as an economist and capital markets strategist for a number of major investment banks including Dresdner Kleinwort Benson and ABN AMRO.

He is also a regular contributor for a number of think tanks including Global Britain, Institute of Economic Affairs, and The Centre of Policy Studies. He was honoured to give both the Willman Pitt lecture and the Adam Smith lecture at Pembroke College, Cambridge.